SNAIDERO KNOWS WHAT'S COOKING

Have you ever taken on a project to refurbish your home but were puzzled about the latest trends? That's when it's time to ask the experts.

According to Snaidero, homeowners today desire “freely configured, shareable environments that are bright and open—accessible solutions that are easy to design, customize, purchase, and inhabit.”

Therefore, Snaidero creates fluid interiors that enhance the flow of movement across multi-purpose spaces, thus heightening the functionality of a kitchen, which then provides an intimate refuge for the family and a showcase when entertaining guests.

Just as important as the functional structure, space, storage, and working surfaces, the lighting must efficiently illuminate the operating area, as well as generate an emotional ambiance. Through the interplay of uniform flow, diffusion, and reflection of light, Snaidero adds the final touch to every kitchen.

So the next time you take on that refurbishing project, ask Snaidero what's cooking.
